OUTSPOKEN LIBERALS.

SCATHING CRITICISM OF GOVERNMENT.

(Reuter's Service.)

London, December 18.

At a meeting of Liberal M.P.'s at the National Liberal Club, Mr. Asquith said there had been no overtures whatever by the Liberals with the leaders of either parties. He intended to preserve that freedom completely. The Liberals controlled the situation, and the days of the present Government were numbered. The Government's record was one of impotence. They had reduced the country to a cipher in the councils of the world. He would not move a finger to connive in a prolongation of their disastrous stewardship. Mr. Lloyd George said he completely agreed with Mr. Asquith's policy.

TANGIER CONVENTION DRAWN UP.

REGARDED AS BRITISH DIPLOMATIC TRIUMPH.

Paris, December 18.

A convention settling the international status of Tangier has been signed by Britain, France and Spain at the Quai D'Orsay this afternoon. The Spanish delegates only signed ad referendum, and the protocol will remain open for some time to enable the Spanish Government to study and test the convention before final signature.

London, December 18.

The signing of the Tangier Convention is regarded as a triumph for British diplomacy, ending a decade of wrangling. The convention opens a fine opportunity for British trade at the port of Tangier, which will be modernised. The capitulations disappear, and British residents will be answerable to a British court alone. It is hoped compromises will be effected to obviate friction between the conflicting authorities—French, British, Spanish and Italian.

London, December 18.

The Tangier Convention provides for permanent neutrality, forbidding all fortifications, and places the port under an international regime giving economic equality to all nations.

BRITAIN AND AFGHANISTAN.

PARIS MESSAGE CONTRADICTED.

London, December 18.

Reuter learns that a large, well-equipped Afghan army has left Kabul and arrived at Jalalabad, in the neighbourhood of which the murders of British subjects are hiding. The British military authorities are taking all the necessary steps to co-operate with the Afghans.

London, December 18.

The alleged statements by the Afghan Minister in Paris are officially declared in London to be entirely baseless. The Minister is known to be somewhat unfriendly towards Britain. Apart from the murders of British subjects, there have been other grounds for complaint with regard to the attitude of the Afghan Government, owing to its continual interference with the tribes on the British side of the frontier; consequently by virtue of the Anglo-Afghan treaty it has been found necessary to prevent the passage of arms and munitions to Afghanistan until a satisfactory settlement has been reached.

TRADE SUBSIDY FORECASTED.

MALAYAN TIN COMPANY'S APPLICATION.

London, December 18.

The Industrial Daily News learns on good authority that it is expected the Treasury will shortly approve of the application of the Malayan Tin Dredging Company Limited, for a guarantee. It is stated that the company propose to carry out extensive developments, including the erection of an electrical power station, the electrifying of the existing plant, and the construction of a powerful new electrical dredge. If the negotiations with the Trade Facilities Advisory Committee be successful, the whole of the contracts will be immediately placed with British engineers.

DEMONSTRATION AGAINST GREEK KING.

DETHRONEMENT BEING CONSIDERED.

Athens, December 18.

Prior to the Cabinet's communication to the King the Republicans organised an anti-dynastic meeting, the demonstrators including soldiers and sailors. A speech by a Naval ex-commander was received with cries of "Down with the King." The demonstrators went in procession to the Premier's office, shouting similar words, and submitted a resolution in favour of the King's dethronement. Thereupon the military and political leaders conferred, and informed the demonstrators that the Cabinet would consider the resolution.

BRITISH RAILWAYMEN'S WAGES.

AMICABLE SETTLEMENT REPORTED.

London, December 18.

It is understood that all question of railway trouble has been removed by the award of the Railway Wages Board, signed to-day, which does not contemplate any serious reduction of wages. All the members endorsed the report of the companies' representatives abandoning the larger demands in view of the recent rise in the cost of living, while it is believed the men's unions are prepared to agree to the abolition of certain anomalies which the companies consider are productive of wasteful working and overlapping.

NOT WITHOUT SOME SIGNIFICANCE.

London, December 18.

Speculation has been evoked by a brief visit of Sir John Bradbury to Mr. Ramsay MacDonald at Lissieu to-day. It is believed to have some bearing on Sir John Bradbury's endeavour to secure representative men to assist in the settlement of European problems.

Later.

Sir John Bradbury, interviewed, explained he had consulted Mr. MacDonald, also other leaders of parties, regarding suitable men for membership of the reparations enquiry committees.

THE TRANS-POLAR FLIGHT.

Christiania, December 18.

Captain Amundsen states that agreements have been concluded enabling him to carry out the proposed polar flight from Spitzbergen to Alaska. An expedition with at least three machines will go northward as early as possible, flying between May and August.

BRUTAL MURDER.

COOLIE FOREMAN THROWN OVER BRIDGE.

A brutal murder was committed at the junction of Conduit and Hutton Roads yesterday, the victim being Tang Yau, aged 27, a coolie foreman living at 91 First Street West Point.

It is stated that earlier in the day the deceased caught several coolies in the act of cutting down branches of trees on the new road above the junction of Conduit and Hutton Roads and admonished them. The men, who are believed to be employed by the road contractor, resented the interference, and in the afternoon, with the help of several others, they stopped the foreman in a secluded spot, dragged him to a bamboo bridge and pitched him over the railing into a deep cutting. The foreman must have died almost instantly from the fall, which was from a considerable height.

No far, no arrests have been made.

MISSING AUSTRALIAN.

NOT SEEN SINCE FRIDAY.

A foreigner is reported to have been missing from the Hongkong Hotel since Friday, the 14th. inst. The man is believed to be an Australian and his name is Wilfred Arlington Pittie Wilkinson, 35 years of age. The police describe him as being "clean shaven with fair hair, and very smart in appearance." He was last seen at the Hongkong Club on Friday night, wearing a dress suit.

We understand Mr. Wilkinson has lived at the Hongkong Hotel since October. The police have searched the shipping passengers' lists for the last few days also made enquiries at the Passport Office, but so far have found no clue.

EUROPEAN LADY'S SUICIDE.

ON FRENCH MAIL STEAMER.

(Our Correspondent.)

Shanghai, December 19.

Peking reports state that messages received from Hainan by Mrs. Rupert Hughes, who was en route on the steamer Angkor for Saigon, intending to proceed to Europe, has committed suicide. No details are given.

Mrs. Hughes arrived in Peking in the autumn, seemingly intending to remain for the winter, renting the celebrated Drum Tower House as a residence. She behaved strangely, and her physical condition was known to be abnormal. Whilst under treatment in hospital, she suddenly departed for Shanghai, whence she sailed on the Angkor on December 7th. Messrs. Thos Cooks arranging a stop-over at Saigon, where she intended to transfer to the steamer Chambord. It is reported that she was severely ill aboard the ship, suffering veritally also through the loss of art objects.

PEKING PARLIAMENT FIGHT.

Peking, December 18.—In the House of Representatives, after the free fight between opposition factions, Wu Ching-lian, the Speaker, called the Procurator's two doctors to examine his injuries, after which he induced his followers to take note of the nomination of Sun Pao-chi as Premier. This proved abortive, upwards of a hundred only voting, the abstainers including the Opposition and those remaining neutral. The ballot box was not opened.

On the arrival of the Procurator's doctors, photos were taken of Wu's injuries, Wu standing, with a bleeding face, on the floor of the House. These will be used as evidence at the forthcoming legal proceedings, which Wu announced will shortly be taken.

BIG FIRE NEAR MACAO.

27 BODIES RECOVERED.

News reaches us to-day from our Macao correspondent of a disastrous fire which broke out in a firecracker factory at Taipa, an island opposite the Praya Grande on Sunday night. The fire raged all night until the following morning, when it burnt itself out.

It is feared that the loss of life is very heavy. So far, 27 charred bodies have been removed from the ruins, whilst many more of the workers are missing. Fourteen injured people have been sent to hospital.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION.

CHANGE IN UPON.

The match between the Police and South China, fixed for Saturday, having been postponed, it is necessary to make a change in our Football Competition coupon. In place of this game, the match between H.M.S. Hawkins and the Club has been inserted in the coupon to-day. Particular attention is drawn to this change.

Competitors who have already collected coupons from our issue of Monday and Tuesday can, on presenting them at this office, get them exchanged for an equivalent number of the new coupons.

STILL HARD UP.

CANTON'S SEARCH FOR FUNDS.

Canton is still hard up for funds. In connection with the proposed Opium Monopoly, the Government wants the monopolists to pay a big sum in advance, but the tenderers only agree to paying the revenue daily. As a consequence, the question of letting out the monopoly has not yet been settled.

The Finance Department has sent out a number of officials to the districts of Pun Yau Tsun Tak, Tung Kwan, Sun, Hui and Heungshan to compel the field-owners to have their title deeds renewed at a fee of $5 each, and also to pay all taxes due within a limited time. Failing compliance, it is stated that the owners will be arrested.

WORLD THEATRE.

"THE TRUTHFUL LIAR."

Possessing originality, high dramatic values and a decided punch, "The Truthful Liar," starring Wanda Hawley in a Realart picture, had a successful showing at the World Theatre yesterday. The story is one of unusual dramatic strength and deals with the troubles of a husband and wife whose tastes run in divergent channels, and which provokes a dramatic situation of exceptional force and interest. There is a mystery twist to the theme which will exert a strong appeal on all picture-goers. Miss Wanda Hawley is excellent as the wife, and Edward Hepp as the husband. The support is excellent.

RUSSIA AND AMERICA.

NO BARTERING OF PRINCIPLES.

Washington, December 18.

Mr. Hughes has indirectly informed the Russian Government that there seems at present no reason for negotiations, as suggested in M. Chicherin's message mentioned yesterday. He added that the American Government is not proposing to barter away its principles. Moscow should, as evidence of good faith, restore the confiscated American property, or make compensation, and repeal the decree repudiating Russia's obligations towards America. The Government cannot enter into negotiations until the propaganda to overthrow the institutions of the United States be abandoned.

AFGHANISTAN SITUATION.

London, Dec. 18.

A grave situation has arisen on the Afghan border owing to the Afghan Government not yet complying with the repeated demands of the Indian Government for the surrender of the murderers of British subjects. The Afghan police attempts to arrest the culprits have been unsuccessful owing to the hostility of the population among whom Bolshevik emissaries are spreading anti-European propaganda. In view of the situation the families of European diplomats at Kabul have been escorted to Peshawar. The Government of India is confident that the Amir will consent to hand over the murderers but in the meanwhile it is taking such steps as seem advisable. The Afghan Minister in Paris is credited by the Matra as expressing strong anti-British sentiments, alleging that Britain is desirous to annex Afghanistan, and declaring that if the country is invaded the Afghans will defend themselves to the last man. Moreover they have friends in Turkey and Russia, he says.—Reuter.

A SOVIET SPLIT.

Riga, Dec. 18.

A message from Moscow states that the Communist Party's new programme, which was proclaimed on 5th December, involving extensive freedom of speech among the rank and file of the Communists has caused serious discord among the Party leaders. M. Kamenov on the 11th inst. was forced to defend himself against the attacks of M. Sapronov, M. Preobrazhensky, M. Smirnov and others who accused the Party's central committee of arrogating to themselves too much authority and not considering the wishes of the rank and file. M. Kamenov, replying, approached, M. Radak for supporting the malcontents and warned members against converting the new reform into a mere struggle for power. The Soviet official press states that the situation is most grave. The only salvation consists in the Party preserving complete unity while it is accomplishing its present reforms.—Reuter.

IRISH FREE STATE.

New York, Dec. 18.

Justice Wagner of the Supreme Court has signed the order making effective its recent decision requiring Messrs. De Valera, Stack and Barron to testify against the Free State in the Free State's suit to improve money from local banks deposited in the name of the Irish Republic. The order directs that if De Valera and other are interfered with for the purpose of preventing them from testifying the injunction against the withdrawal of the funds will be dissolved and the Free State will be forever barred from pressing its suit. The order stipulates that De Valera and others must testify before the American Consul General in Ireland between the 10th January and 23rd February next.—Reuter's American Service.

NAVY AND THE BANK.

EARTHQUAKE SERVICES RECOGNISED.

Vice Admiral Sir Arthur Leveson, K.C.B., his staff and some of the ship's company of H.M.S. Hawkins attended the weekly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation yesterday afternoon and were presented by the Bank with a silver cup in the form of an ancient Chinese incense burner in recognition of the inestimable services rendered by them to the Bank in Yokohama after the earthquake. The memento bore the following inscription: "Presented by the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation to His Majesty's Flagship Hawkins in remembrance of services rendered to the Bank in Yokohama, September, 1923, by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, the Captain, Officers and Ship's Company."

The Bank's Thanks.

In making the presentation, Mr. A. O. Lang, the Chairman of the Directors, said:

Your Excellency, it is a great pleasure to have you with us this afternoon and in view of the special circumstances which prompted the invitation we feel greatly honoured by your presence. We have asked you to come here to-day, Sir, in order that we might express our profound thanks for the gallant and invaluable services rendered by your Excellency, the Captain, Officers and Ship's Company of H.M. Flagship Hawkins, to the Bank at Yokohama, and the staff attached thereto, during the dark days following immediately upon the terrible earthquake which wrought such devastation in Japan early in September.

Wright, the Manager at Yokohama, has written in eulogistic terms of the assistance rendered from the Navy, without which it would have been impossible to manage the affairs of the Bank in Japan so expeditiously as has been the case. The help rendered is further proof that the traditions of the Senior Service are being worthily maintained and in evidence of the interest taken by the Navy in the commerce of the Empire. We appreciate, Sir, all you have done since your arrival on the Station in an endeavour to protect and advance British trade in these parts, and we sincerely trust these efforts will meet with success. I now ask your Excellency to accept on behalf of H.M. Flagship this replica in silver of an ancient Chinese incense burner as a memento from the Bank of the assistance rendered by the Hawkins during these terrible days in Yokohama to which I have referred.

The Admiral's Reply.

Vice-Admiral Sir Arthur Leveson, accepting the cup, replied as follows: In accepting on behalf of the Flagship this extraordinarily handsome present, I can only say that the Navy is always ready to do its duty, and, in this instance, in the face of such an appalling disaster, every one of the nations that could rushed to help, and that the help, such as it was, so appreciated by the Court of Directors of the Bank, is a source of very great pleasure to us. I may say that our work at Yokohama was most unpleasant in the midst of such death and destruction, but the least unpleasant—in fact I might almost call it a holiday to the torpedo department—was blowing in by gun-cotton the door at the Bank safe. I must congratulate the Bank on the strength and efficiency of their strong room. It resisted all our efforts till we resorted to gun-cotton, and then, I am glad to note, as you all know, we found the inside unharmed. The Bank leads the mercantile world, and I am sure this is an instance in which it proved it by having the best safe. In all other cases damage by fire, or actually baking the inside, was the result. I turn to this very handsome gift. We appreciate the very kind thought of giving it and we appreciate the fact that it is the handsomest and most unique trophy that has ever been given to any of H.M. Ships. Again, Mr. Chairman, on behalf of the Flagship, I thank the whole Court of Directors for their most handsome present.

WOMEN SAILORS.

An Extending Movement.

Women are serving to-day in nearly every branch of the merchant service writes L. G.
Green in a Home paper.

The most unlikely profession in the world now seems to open to them. The time when only positions as stewardesses were available has certainly gone.

Quite recently a woman skipper took her own motor cargo boat down the Thames to the Isle of Wight. Several large foreign ocean-going freighters are commanded by women.

Possibly the most remarkable instance of a woman at sea is that of the woman engineer, Miss V. A. Drummond, who stood her watch in dungarees in the engine-room of a Liverpool liner.

Several Norwegian girls are serving as wireless operators in the ships of their own country—and, indeed, this is among the most suitable jobs afloat for them.

On deck, able-bodied "seawo-men" would find the task no more exacting than work in a factory ashore. A novelist recently sailed halfway round the world in a tiny yacht with his sister as mate—and wrote enthusiastically about her proficiency.

Little ships seem to have provided most jobs for women up to now. Scores of Thames barges carry the skipper's wife, a person who is up to any emergency, and as good as most men in the matter of steering, cooking, and washing.

Generally speaking, life at sea nowadays is not the grim profession of hardship that it was when ill-found wind-jammers beat their weary way round the Horn.

There are plenty of women air-pilots, and if the female brain is quick enough to carry out that task successfully, it can navigate a ship with ease, even in time of danger. Night watches will trouble the female sailor no more than they do the hospital nurse.

In one branch of work in liner and tramp alike the woman will be welcomed, and that is the galley. Her arrival will synchronize with the departure of the notorious "grubpoilers" of the sea. Board of Trade regulations will take on a new flavour under tender feminine care.

NORTH AND SOUTH.

How long will the so-called Peking Government continue to function? According to a Northern commentator, it may manage to carry on until just before the Chinese New Year, when a crisis is apprehended which, it is calculated, will involve its downfall.
Of the questions which will be particularly prominent when this crisis is reached, and even before, are those of military pay, the arrears due to Government employees, the paying of many who have been dismissed under the retrenchment scheme, as well as other arrears, which have still to be made good. The copper note crisis is also aggravating the situation, whilst over and above all these matters is the discovering of ways and means for meeting the monthly administrative expenses as they fall due. All these issues are of much concern to the Government, which, like that in Canton, scarcely knows which way to turn in order to secure funds. It is the same cry North and South—the need of more money.

When we begin to think of the absolutely undeveloped resources of this vast country and then turn our minds to the present situation, we cannot, as well-wishers of China and the Chinese, but feel profoundly sorry at the gloomy outlook which confronts the nation at the moment. The possibilities are in such vivid contrast to the actualities. From the purely political standpoint, and also from the viewpoint of Government finances, China stands today a bankrupt country. The causes are too well known to require emphasis. The fact is deplorable. Notwithstanding the reprehensible manner of his election, it was hoped in some quarters that President Tsao Kun might be able to put the country on its feet. So far, he has miserably failed. Like so many of his predecessors, he has been a tool in the hands of the militarists.

Even a military dictator who worked for the real well-being of the country would be better than men of the type who have in recent years been jockeyed into the Presidential chair. But no man with sufficient strength of character or singleness of purpose has yet come forward.
China sadly needs a Mussolini.
Military cliques hold sway both in the North and the South, each seeking to further its own interests, though professing a desire to "save the nation." It would be far more to the benefit of the country to be saved from the schemings of such as these.
Political leaders with high patriotic motives are few and far between in China. And at the moment we can see little prospect of the facts being otherwise.

Old Notions Going.

A Chinese gentleman who teaches Mandarin Chinese at Columbia University declares that it is easier to learn to speak and read than some of the European languages, and takes no longer to master than German, French or Spanish. Possibly he is quite right, and it means another fetish going by the board. Probably mankind will find during the next few generations that many more of his inherited notions are wrong. Hitherto the idea of Chinese as a very difficult language has held sway in the minds of all Westerners, yet there are some acquiring one or other of the dialects every day. A scientist recently proved that a red rag had no more effect on a bull than a white one. It looks as if a familiar English phrase will have to go, with other anachronisms. The explorer Stefansson claims that the Far North has a climate at least as good as that further south in Northern Canada, Scandinavia, or part of Russia and Siberia. He writes enchantingly of the dry, bracing winters and beautiful summers, when flowers bloom profusely, and butterflies and even mosquitoes make themselves noticeable. He says we have inherited our belief that the Arctic has a terrible climate from the ancients, who had never visited those regions, and from former explorers posing as heroes.
Medical men are now talking seriously of future white settlement of parts of the Tropics.
It seems as if mankind is still labouring under various fond superstitions of his great grandfathers.

Afghan Enmity.

The cable received to-day about the situation in Afghanistan are decidedly conflicting, in one case we learn that a well-equipped army of Afghans have reached the Indian frontier for the purpose, presumably, of cooperating with the British forces in hunting for a small gang of murderers, whilst on the other hand it is admitted that Britain has reason to complain about the Afghan Government's attitude on the border. The allegation, made in an earlier message, that the British authorities aim at the annexation of Afghanistan, is too absurd for intelligent persons to believe, and can be traced to the Bolshevist source responsible for all the recent unrest near the North-West frontier. What Britain wants to see is a strictly neutral Afghanistan, instead of a neighbour apparently swayed by intrigue and covertly hostile. It is evident, from the news now coming over the wires, that an anti-British faction are holding power across the border. It were better, anyhow, to have these schemers openly at enmity with us, so that the necessary measures can be taken to counter their intrigues, than to have false promises of friendship and remain uncertain whether they are contemplating a sudden stab in the back. The story of "from Herat to Kabul" and of Lord Roberts' of Kandahar should not be forgotten.

THE CUSTOMS DISPUTE.

MEETING OF DR. SUN'S OFFICIALS.

OUTSPOKEN NEWSPAPER COMMENT.

Matters have not come to a head in connection with the Canton Customs dispute, although much interest is being centred on what will transpire to-day, when Dr. Sun Yat-sen's "ultimatum" expires.

An important meeting took place at Dr. Sun's headquarters at the Cement Works on Monday, being attended by all the high civil and military officials. The Customs surplus question and the presence of foreign warships in the river were discussed. The meeting lasted three hours, but it is not known what decisions were reached.

DIPLOMATIC BODY'S REPLY.

The Canton Gazette says:— With respect to the case of the Customs Surplus on which Mr. C.
C. Wu, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, has made representations to the Diplomatic Body in Peking, the Southern Government's viewpoint is that after paying foreign charges what is left is the Customs Surplus. No consideration can be taken of any claim or claims of internal loans or other uses. Foreign nations are only concerned with the security for their debts so that after these charges are paid, the Surplus is purely a Chinese matter in which they have no voice or control.

The reply of the Diplomatic Body to the Southern Government, received on the 14th instant, concurs in this viewpoint and clearly recognises it.
Thus the Customs Surplus remains a matter of internal administration and the foreign Powers cannot interfere with it.
This is the first indication of the attitude of the Diplomatic Body on the Customs Surplus.
It is clear that the Diplomatic Body recognises the fact that the matter of Customs Surplus is purely a question of China's internal administration. This is a point gained in the Customs matter and should facilitate the measures the Government may take in the future. The Government will have to deal not with the foreign Governments but with the Customs officials who,
as the whole world knows, are the servants of the Chinese Government.

KUOMINTANG MEMBERS ACTIVE.

The Canton Kuomintang members held a meeting yesterday afternoon (says the Canton Gazette of Tuesday) to discuss the Customs Surplus question, at the Canton Red Cross Society Building. Several delegates were appointed to call on the authorities urging them to keep a firm stand on the question.

The Wang Yan Publicity Club gave several public lectures in Sai-kuo-yuan. The lecturers pointed out the importance of the Customs question and urged the public to assist the government in its strife for the return of the Southern share of the Surplus.

LABOUR SUPPORT.

Many telegrams have been received by the authorities from public organizations elsewhere with regard to the Customs Surplus question, says the same journal. The M.P.s in Shanghai telegraph to Dr. Sun stating that they will send a manifesto to the Diplomatic Corps in Peking regarding the question of the Customs Surplus.

The Citizens' Diplomatic Society of Shanghai has sent a telegram to the local authorities requesting them not to give in to the strife for the return of the proper share of the Surplus to the Canton Government. Telegrams to the same effect have also been received from labour organizations in Fatsan, Tainiung, Heungsham, Chan-chuen, and Sun-wai.

THE FOREIGN WARSHIPS.

In the course of a leading article, the Canton Gazette states:—

The presence in Canton of 6
American, 5 British, 2 Japanese, 2 French, and one Portuguese warships, representatives of 5 foreign Powers, making a total 16 ships, may well cause the peaceful inhabitants of Canton to inquire what they are here for? Shamen is certainly not a training station for the cadets and yet these bluejackets were holding military drills yesterday. What does this mean?

Somebody ventures the remark that this is an answer to the

ST. DUNSTAN'S.

HONGKONG'S INTEREST SOUGHT.

It is hoped there will be a large attendance at the screening of a special film at Government House on Friday, at 5.30 p.m., which will illustrate the daily life of the blinded soldiers and sailors at St. Dunstan's Home. Mr. W.
E. Cowen, the travelling commissioner for the Home, will speak and give the Hongkong public a clear idea of the magnificent work which this institution is doing.

Mr. Cowen has been working in the interests of the Home for the past eight years and he left the Old Country on his present tour about a year ago. Since then he has been all through South America, South Africa, British East Africa, India, Ceylon, the F. M. S. and Straits Settlements, as well as Siam. After leaving Hongkong, he will visit various parts of China and then proceed Home via Vancouver, making a tour of Canada and reaching Home in September next year. His chief work is to organise committees who will undertake to do something for St.
Dunstan's at least once a year.

Customs Surplus affair. If we remember correctly, in a recent dispatch addressed by the Department for Foreign Affairs of the Southern Government to the Diplomatic Corps, it was clearly stated that if a portion of the share of the Customs Surplus is not given to the South, then in two weeks' time the Government would order the Commissioner of Customs to cease remitting the funds collected at the port, to Peking, so that the Mandarin and Militarists there may not use the funds indirectly to intrigue against Canton and finance military expeditions against it.
It was further stated that there was no interference with the Customs contemplated, nor any taking over of the administration of the Customs threatened. It was a purely Chinese internal matter. That being so, we are at a loss to understand the meaning of this demonstration, and are entitled to ask the question "what is this demonstration for?" Right along the people of Canton have preserved a very calm attitude and it is but natural therefore for them to resent the presence of these war-ships. The procession of yesterday may be taken as a protest from them.

On the other hand it is bound to be pretty embarrassing to the foreign Powers themselves, after sending their armada to Canton, to find that they have nothing for them to do except possibly to make a mighty gesture and then dwindle down, and under cover of the darkness of the night disappear from Canton waters altogether.

Anyone with a casual acquaintance of the Southern authorities knows that if they consider that they are in the right, 16 war ships, yea, 160, will not in the least prevent them from pursuing their course regardless of what the consequences may be. It is only folly to try to bully them.
The days of bullying Chinese officials, particularly officials of the South, we fear, are well-nigh ended.

Those who know the Cantonese people well will readily attest the fact that they do not view such a demonstration with indifference.
The foreign Powers and their consuls here must be held responsible for any provocation or dire consequences due to the presence of these war-ships. In the light of the whole affair, the authorities here are to be congratulated for their calmness in dealing with an admittedly difficult situation. They have conducted the negotiations with the Diplomatic Corps on this question for months and have clearly shown a spirit of patience and esteem throughout. Of this, there is no doubt.

Somebody then must have got panicky for we understand that it is sufficiently pointed out that no interference with the administration of the Customs has been contemplated. . . . Meanwhile we shall fervently pray that these Western Leviathans of Destruction may leave our unfortified, unprotected, and peaceful City of the Rams alone. The slaughter, misery, blood, and hell, such devils inventions have brought to Europe, have not advanced the cause of peace, prosperity, and harmony of Europe one bit, as every one knows. Surely civilisation can find a better altar, or also the world's vaunted civilisation is a hollow gigantic mockery.

$50,000 RANSOM.CONSPIRACY CHARGE AT SESSIONS.

A conspiracy to obtain a ransom for $50,000 from a pawnbroker for the release of a charge on which two men appeared before Mr. Justice Gompertz, at the Criminal Sessions, this morning. One of the accused also had to answer a charge of sending a threatening letter. He was defended by Mr. C. G. Alabaster, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Lee and Russ). The other prisoner was not legally defended.

The jury were Messrs. P. R. Glendinning (foreman), A. C. Franklin, C. B. Matthews, A. E. Murphy, A. A. Almeida, J. L. McPherson and S. S. Church.

Mr. H. K. Holmes, in the course of his opening address for the Crown, said the offences related to the kidnapping of the son of a manager of a pawnshop at Canton, who was also a partner in a firm in Hongkong. The son disappeared on Sept. 25th and the first news of what had happened to him came in a letter to the Canton shop, which was forwarded on to Hongkong. About Oct. 1st, another letter—unsigned—arrived. Apparently there was some miscommunication of letters, and a further communication was received by the father, making an appointment in Yumath. In consequence of this, the father sent two representatives to Yumath, one of them by arrangement carrying a palm leaf fan.

Almost immediately on the arrival of these two representatives at the restaurant at Yumath, Mr. Holmes continued, the first prisoner came in. He sat down at their table, and after some conversation in which the father's name was mentioned, the three men set out for the hillside near King's Park. One of the representatives went with the first accused up the hill and there they met another man. There was some reference to a ransom of $50,000, and the representative said he would get an answer.

Another meeting place was arranged, Mr. Holmes continued, and on Oct. 16th, two representatives, one of whom was a district watchman, again went carrying a palm leaf fan, to a restaurant at Yumath. Here they met both accused. After discussing the ransom, the accused said they would go to Canton to see if a smaller sum would be accepted. The first accused wrote down a place for the next meeting on a piece of paper, telling the representatives this time to hold two papers in their hands. The watchman then arrested both men.

Mr. Holmes said he was calling evidence to show that between Oct. 6th and Oct. 16th, both men were living together in a cubicle at Yumath. After the arrest, Inspector Appleton visited this cubicle, where he found letters relating to the kidnapping.

When charged, the first accused said the letter (which he was charged with sending) was given him by another man, by whom all the business was done. The second prisoner said the son was captured by another man, who told him that whoever discussed the price of the ransom would be given a bag of raw opium for every $100. He did this to get the value of the raw opium.

The evidence was being heard as we went to press.

A PUZZLE A DAY.WIBISEGISOPYEOWPIS?

If a double letter (like CC or DD) is inserted at six different places in the line shown above, a sentence will be formed. It will tell what a certain man said when he learned one of his friends was opening a drug store.

Monday's answer:

1 Mile in 60 seconds is—60 miles an hour.
1 Mile in 90 seconds is—40 miles an hour.
1 Mile in 120 seconds is—30 miles an hour.

This is a very puzzling problem. The average person will figure that a mile in 90 seconds is 45 miles per hour. They reason that if 90 is half-way between 60 and 120, the rate of speed should be 45, which is half-way between 60 and 30! The correct answer, however, is determined by dividing 90 into 3600 (the number of seconds in an hour), which gives the correct result—40.

THE PHILHARMONIC.LAST NIGHT'S THEATRE CONCERT.

For the second year since its resuscitation, the Hongkong Philharmonic Society has given a concert in the Theatre Royal, and Mr. T. P. M. Bevan, who was mainly responsible for putting the Society back on the active list, is to be congratulated on the performance which was given last night. We in Hongkong often complain regarding the lack of local musical entertainment but if the Philharmonic Society keeps up its endeavours we shall, at least, have one local body on whom we can rely for one or more pleasurable nights during the winter season. The Theatre was fully filled last night and it was good to see so much support.

Let it be said right at the outset that Mr. Bevan, who conducted, had trained his somewhat small chorus to a very high standard. He always had them under control and the parts were nicely balanced, though a keen critic would have had room to suggest that there was just a little too much hesitation in some of the attacks. In the main, however, the chorus work was distinctly good, and the members of it can take unto themselves the hearty appreciation of the audience. The Society is unquestionably weak at the moment in its orchestra and we are sure there are many more local instrumentalists who might lend a helping hand. In the absence of a solid bass foundation any orchestra suffers enormously and this is what was wrong last night. It was left entirely to two cellos (together with piano and organ) to provide the bass—a provision that could only be attempted and not achieved. There were no wood or brass instruments, neither were there any drums, the resulting orchestra work being thin and lacking body. Those who did comprise the orchestra, however, worked hard and well and the above criticism is offered in the way of a suggestion rather than as a complaint. Perhaps another year will find a larger orchestra and one more worthy of the conductor's efforts.

This concert opened with Frederic Bridge's ballad, "The Inebriate Rock," in which it was clearly demonstrated that the chorus had the advantage. It is a pleasing, tuneful work and was very well rendered. It was followed by "Song of Evening," a setting to music by Rutland Boughton of John Drinkwater's beautiful poem "A little while they lived again, and lo!" The words and music are in solemn strain, and the rendition was marked by sympathy and expression. "Turn back, O man," a part-song based on the melody from the 124th psalm from the Geneva Psalter (arranged by Gustav Holst), was also much enjoyed both on account of its harmony and the manner in which it was given. But perhaps the most enjoyed items of all occurred in the Cycle of Traditional Songs, from "Songs in a Farmhouse" by Frederic Austin, simply because they were more within the capabilities of the Society. The simple chorus "Summer is acoming in" (based on one of the oldest known English musical manuscripts and arranged as a two-part Canon) went with a delightful swing, to be followed by a well-rendered bass solo by Mr. G. H. Piercy, "The Poacher," in which he had the assistance of the chorus. A gem of the evening was the charming chorus "It was a lover and his lass," the audience plainly indicating its preference for this class of work. Mrs. G. A. Clements gave a delightful rendering of the old favourite "Banks of Allan Water" in which the orchestral accompaniment was splendidly subdued. "Drink to me only with thine eyes" was rendered by Mr. H. G. Anniss, three other members of the chorus assisting with diminuendo harmonising. This was also one of the much-enjoyed items of the evening. Mrs. Mathieson gave a faultless rendition of "Early one Morning" and again demonstrated that she is, perhaps, the Colony's most talented contralto. That old favourite "The Ash Grove" was given by the chorus (unaccompanied), and the first half of the programme was brought to a close by Mr. G. H. Piercy giving "John Peel" with chorus assistance.

Part II opened with a part-song "Let all mortal flesh keep Silence," the tune of which is an old French melody, arranged by Gustav Holst. It is a dainty little work, the solo being taken by Mrs. Mathieson. The rest of the evening was occupied by Elgar's ballad "The Banner of St. George" in which Wensley's fine poem has been used. Elgar has written much better music than this, for it is somewhat dull and certainly uninspiring. In any case it was far too heavy for the resources of the local Society, the orchestra not being given a fair chance to be appreciated.

But it remains to be said that both chorus and orchestra tackled the work bravely, whilst Mrs. S. Collett, who sang the solos of Sabra, provided a real treat. She is a talented soprano of whom we should like to hear more.

At the conclusion of the evening both Mr. Bevan and those under him came in for a round of appreciative applause.

THE TYPEWRITER.*ASTORY OF PROGRESSIVE SPEED.

In 1906 the world's record typewriter speed was 82 words a minute—a speed that was considered entirely phenomenal. Yet in the competitions held this year a speed of no less than 147 words per minute for one hour's duration was registered, a fact which tells its own story of the evolution of the typewriter.

The World's Championship typewriter contest, open to all comers, is held annually. The Championship Cup (value $1,000) was subscribed for by all leading Typewriter Manufacturers, thus ensuring that the conditions governing the contests are fair to all alike. The Contest commenced in 1906. This year's contest which was held at New York City, was won by Mr. Albert Tangora, who typing for an hour averaged 147 nett words per minute. Mr. Tangora performed this marvellous feat on the "Underwood" Typewriter. At the end of the hour contest he typed 159 words without a single error, in 60 seconds.

Since the commencement of the contests the professional championship has invariably been won by operators using the "Underwood" Machines, thus this is the eighteenth consecutive year in which this Typewriter has been awarded the trophy. Mr. George L. Hossfeld previously won the World's One-minute Championship with 160 perfect words to his credit (he also used an "Underwood"), thereby establishing The World's Record.

You can nurse Baby yourself

If the greatest privilege of motherhood is to be yours; if you would know the joy of having Baby dependent on you alone for health and strength, make sure now that you will be able to nurse him yourself. Very many mothers who could not otherwise nurse their babies have been enabled to do so by taking Glaxo themselves every day. Taken regularly two or three times a day (both before and after Baby's arrival), Glaxo enriches and stimulates the flow of breast milk, and maintains the mother's strength without taxing her digestion.

CAMERA NEWS.

Latest photograph of the Hon. Joan Yarde-Buller, eldest daughter of Lord and Lady Churston, who is considered one of England's most beautiful girls.

Here is the first locomotive ever to enter the American national capital. It's the Atlantic, designed by a York watchmaker for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in 1832. At the recent three-day golden jubilee celebration at North Baltimore, folk from miles around got a ride on it.

Babe Ruth is here seen on first base during the third game of the world series at the Yankee Stadium.

Lady Roswell Wilshire, who has obtained a separation from her husband, Sir Roswell Wilshire.

Picture shows students of Edinburgh University, indulging in a bit of play. Plenty of mud-slinging and rag-throwing, and a glorious time was enjoyed by all.

This echo from the terrible Japanese earthquake shows what happened to a railroad track in one of the isolated sections.

AUSTRIAN JUDGES IN RAGS.

Dr. Friedrich Engel, the President of the Vienna Commercial Court and of the Union of Judges, has resigned the latter position, which he held for nearly ten years. To-day the average monthly income of the judges is from £6 to £8. It is true that there are certain judges in the highest positions who enjoy about double that income, but many receive even much less than the average. In an article Dr. Engel describes the misery among judges. There are cases in which, together with their wives and children, they suffer hunger; there are also cases of clothes literally falling to pieces, so that a benefactor had to dress one judge from head to foot.

RADIO NOTES AND NEWS.

The Sale of Wireless Apparatus.

At the present time there is somewhat of a lull in the demand for wireless apparatus, says the Electric Times, due to several causes which are not difficult to trace. Pending the publication of the report of the Broadcasting Committee, uncertainty prevails as to the future and would be users are holding back. With the summer weather and the attractions of outdoor sports, wireless entertainments do not appeal so readily to the householder, but with the coming of the dark evenings again there should be a spurt in trade, and retailers will be well advised to make arrangements for meeting it. Conditions in America and in England are different, but in the main the principles governing sales are the same, and we quote part of an article which appeared in the Electric Times, which contains some sound commonsense.

Radio sets and parts are comparatively quick-moving goods, says the writer. Compared to a number of other articles of merchandise they are inexpensive, can be well displayed and demonstrated, and a great deal of newspaper and magazine publicity helps to keep up the interest. In addition to these helps the actual broadcasting, which is continually improving, is a great seller of parts, equipment and complete sets. The dealer who is expecting to take advantage of all these various helps must be prepared to take care of the normal demand. The varieties in sets are so great that while the dealer cannot be expected to take down from his shelves the exact article asked for by every customer, yet he can fill practically all orders and sometimes persuade the customer to take something which he has in stock rather than go shopping elsewhere or wait till it can be ordered from the jobber.

Selling radio apparatus from hand to mouth or practically on consignment will never make any profits for the dealer. Radio is one of those things, that gets the public quick and gets him hard. When he has had a pleasant evening's entertainment at his friend's home over the radio, he becomes fired with the desire to own a set himself and he can hardly wait till the stores open on the morrow. What will dampen his enthusiasm more quickly than to be told that the dealer is out of this and out of that, but that it can be ordered from the factory or jobber? In most every case the new radio fan will not leave the order but will go elsewhere where he can secure what he wants when he wants it.

True enough, new circuits and new forms of apparatus are coming out almost every day and little by little some of the older pieces of apparatus are going into the discard, but this change is a good deal slower than some people would have us believe. It takes many months to get new radio apparatus into production and many more months to get the right kind of distribution on it, and the general public demand extends over a long period, more than long enough for the dealer to stock a good supply to fill the popular demand.

Another thing, the introduction of new articles does not necessarily mean that the older types go into the discard. The introduction of the low-voltage dry-cell tubes, enormous as it was and continuing as it has, has not by any means eliminated the 6-volt tubes from the market. There is still a brisk demand for the larger tubes and probably will always continue to be. The dry-cell tubes have simply cut their own place in the public demand and the older type tubes will keep right on going. There is ample profit to be made from both types.

Nor has the development of the vacuum tube, the new circuits and the new pieces of apparatus put the modest crystal set out of business. Dealers have always done a very fair business with crystal sets and parts, and beginners, youngsters, will probably always continue to start their radio careers with the crystal sets. There are even some developments that may make the crystal set a real factor in the world of radio reception.

It is quite impossible to make any suggestions as to the kind and quantity of stocks to be carried. Any suggestions would certainly not be applicable to all parts of the country. In sections within fifteen miles of a powerful broadcasting station crystal sets and parts should, of course, form a very substantial part of the stock. While it may not mean so much of an outlay in money as a corresponding stock of tube set parts and equipment yet it is goods that turn over rapidly and have a good margin of profit.

Tube sets and equipment should be carried in all cases, because there are always those who want to get out of the local field and into DX work. The unit sales of the tube set are greater and it is less trouble to sell a dollar's worth than with smaller and cheaper equipment.

The demand for transmitting apparatus will depend a great deal on how far radio enthusiasm has extended in the territory. The dealer can keep pretty close check on the demand by keeping an accurate record of all parts called for that are out of stock.

It is absolutely essential that the dealer keep up-to-date on new circuits. Some of these require special equipment or apparatus of certain specification, and the great publicity that is generally given a new circuit brings with it a corresponding demand for these particular parts. By keeping ahead of the times, instead of behind the times the dealer will be able to reap the profits from these new developments.

BROADCASTING IN IRELAND.

It is reported that negotiations for the formation of a broadcasting company in the Irish Free State are proceeding satisfactorily. There is authority for stating that at least six companies are interested in the scheme, and it is likely that a company will be formed with which the firms now in conference with the Post Office will be associated. An official statement as to the progress of the negotiations may be expected within a week or two. It has already been laid down that the new broadcasting company shall have a guaranteed capital of not less than £30,000, and shall undertake the erection of a broadcasting station in Dublin with, possibly, relay stations at Cork and Limerick, the company taking all financial responsibility for the failure or success of the scheme. The board of directors will consist of seven members representing the constituent companies and the Post Office.

LACQUER WARE SECRET.

Process Defies Tests of Analysts.

Strange as it may seem, the process of manufacture of the beautiful Foochow lacquer ware which graces so many China homes still remains the secret of one man, the eldest brother of a family controlling the industry.

The existence of this family secret has been known for years, but it was thought that under examination by skilled foreign analysts it would give its secret. But, according to the Chinese Government Bureau of Economic Information Bulletin, such is not the case.

The artists of this Fukien port still jealously guard the secret of the process. The leader of the local industry, which is famous throughout the world, is Shen Shao-an, who is one of a number of eldest sons who have received the secret of mixing the paints from their fathers. After his workmen have modelled the foundation, painted and repainted the surface, he alone attends to the final process, securely shielded from prying eyes. The secret remains in his safe keeping and eventually will be entrusted to his eldest son, the inheritor of his business.

The company is not only the leading manufacturer, but the pioneer in the local industry. For over a hundred years the head of the house has been the craftsman per excellence.

There are said to be a number of imitators of the wares of Shen Shao-an, and the present bearer of the name, to show his claim to the secret process made famous by his ancestors, has added Shoon Kee, his personal name, and character meaning "the right one," to the firm's name.

Altogether there are more than a hundred workshops, but they are all small establishments, including the company. Not one of them employs more than ten men. They have an average business of $3,000 monthly.

SYNCHRONOME ELECTRIC CLOCKS.

THE "SYNCHRONOME" System of Electrical Impulse Clocks consists of

An Electrically-Driven Pendulum which operates any number of Dials. The Pendulum is combined with a simple switch so that both the time-keeping and switching functions are performed automatically and in an ideally perfect manner. Each dial has only a "one-wheel" movement behind it, yet this simple mechanism secures uniform and accurate time-keeping without winding up or any other attention. They are correct to within half a minute in six months. Let us quote you for complete installation.

1924 BUICKS

For the sixth consecutive year Buick has been assigned first place at the National Automobile Shows which will be held in the United States during January 1924.

As has been the case in previous years, the choice of positions was made on the basis of the greatest dollar volume of business done by manufacturers during the year at hand. The fact that Buick has been given first place six times in succession is convincing evidence of Buick's leadership, and the leadership of General Motors, in the automotive world.

Buick is now producing over 1000 cars a day—the greatest production in its history.

N.D.L. FOR MANILA.

New Service Being Inaugurated.

The Manila Bulletin reports that a third German steamship line, the Norddeutscher Lloyd of Bremen, has announced Manila as a port of call for all its passenger steamers in the Far Eastern-European service.

The first of its vessels to Manila will be the Schlesien, due to arrive during January. The Schlesien will inaugurate a 28 day service for the present, although the company contemplates more frequent calls in the near future.

The Nord Lloyd steamers have large passenger accommodation and rates to Europe and the United States are said to be on a par with other German lines now calling at Manila. Larger vessels will begin calling during April with the arrival of the Derfflinger, having accommodation for 120 first class passengers.

Mr. O. Rauff, Manila importer and exporter and representative of several European firms, will be agent for the Nord Lloyd line. He is at present Manila representative of Hamburg-America line, outward bound. The Robert Dollar company has been Manila representative for the Nord Lloyd line but under an agreement arranged between the Dollar line and the Nord Lloyd line Mr. Rauff will handle all business hereafter.

YOUTHFUL DRINKERS: Several youths, seventeen years of age, were summoned at Atherstone last month under the new Act for falsely representing themselves to be eighteen years old for the purpose of obtaining intoxicants, for consumption on licensed premises. They admitted the offence. As these were the first prosecutions under the Act the magistrates imposed the mitigated penalty of five shillings and costs.

DISCUSSION AT SANITARY BOARD MEETING.

Mr. G. B. Sayer presided at the fortnightly meeting of the Sanitary Board yesterday afternoon. There were present the Hon. Mr. H. T. Cross, Dr. W. W. Pearce (Medical Officer of Health), Mr. C. G. Alabaster, Dr. W. V. M. Koch, Dr. F. M. G. O'Brien, Messrs S. W. Tso, Wong Kwong-tin and J. A. Fraser (Secretary).

Pursuant to notice Dr. Koch asked the following questions:

"Will the Head of the Sanitary Department kindly inform the Board whether any supervision is exercised by officers of the Department over building operations in the Colony?"

"If no supervision has been hitherto exercised cannot some arrangement be made to exercise some supervision in view of the extensive prevalence of malaria and dengue?"

In reply to the first question the Medical Officer of Health said special visits had been made by Sanitary Inspectors to buildings in the course of construction in the Colony, and as a result 57 nuisances were discovered in such buildings this year. 24 of them being caused by the breeding of mosquitoes. Seven prosecutions were instituted and fines were inflicted by the Magistrate. Dr. Pearce said that the second question did not arise in view of his statement.

The Chairman said that though he agreed that the second question did not arise, he would like to say a little more. He would like to remind the Board that the main function for which the Sanitary Department was organized was to deal with notifiable and infectious diseases. He would be right in saying that it was originally a plague department pure and simple. At present four-fifths of the work of the Sanitary Inspectors were for the prevention of plague. In addition to that, and without a special supervision staff, the Department was now fighting against the most serious outbreak of small-pox the Colony had ever known. He would not say that the Department was not attempting to deal with malaria and dengue, indeed the reply of the Medical Officer of Health proved to the contrary, but it was necessary to remember that these considerations should be given to more deadly diseases. There was a death roll of over one thousand from plague last year, and the death roll from small-pox during the last two and half months totalled about six hundred.

The policy as regards malaria could be taken as applying to dengue. As to dealing with mosquitoes, Mr. Sayer said that some months ago he assigned a small staff to make preliminary investigations in nullahs and swamps. As a result of representations to the Government it had been agreed that a joint survey by the Medical Officer of Health and the drainage authority be undertaken to evolve a regular scheme of work. The survey would have been started several weeks ago had not the small-pox epidemic intervened. The Board could never expect to eliminate domestic mosquitoes. This would involve domiciliary visits twice a week to every house in the Colony, a course not contemplated by the Board with the present staff, and indeed, with any staff.

In answer to Dr. Koch, the Chairman explained that only seven prosecutions were made out of the 57 cases of nuisances in respect of buildings in the course of erection because in the other cases the nuisances were attended to.

Dr. Koch said that while recognizing the necessity of preventing outbreaks of plague and other infectious diseases, he thought the scope of the Sanitary Board should be extended and attention given to insanitary places from which infectious diseases might arise.

The rest of the business was purely of a routine nature.
